Another coloring book that doesn't have those tiresome Shutterstock Repeats...Thank You. Clean designs, with nothing black-heavy and nothing overly intricate here. Designs more for older children, teens and some adults. A Nice Coloring Book...Disclosure: I received this coloring book for free in exchange for my honest and unbiased review. When we buy coloring books in stores we can look inside to see if we like the designs and check for any designs we already have. WHY Not Here On ??

Love this book. If you like fashions from the Victorian era you will find plenty here. Very nice drawings. There are also tidbits of information about the era and the clothes. Enjoyed those also. Same author also has Victorian Houses book also.

This is a beautiful coloring book full of the prettiest Victorian drawings just right for coloring. These are the types of pictures that make you ready to jump right in and show off your creative side. I hope you like this book as much as I do.

A bit too frilly for the Victorian era. Most of that time Queen Victoria was in mourning for dear Prince Albert who died very young compared to her. She was in mourning most of her life so black was her color. Early Victorian would be nice colors but not all the busy stuff. These are fairly well drawn designs that are at least not shutterstock repeats. They seem more like Children's coloring book pages more than adults. Some hint of what colors folks really wore in the Victorian era would have been helpful. Is that when men dressed more colorfully than women? Or was that an earlier time? Did they wear bright colors? Did they wear very dark colors like Queen Victoria did after Prince Albert died? The drawings themselves are beautifully done which is why I gave it the extra star but for something as concrete as this, I want a few words. Maybe at least a caption such as 'Morning dress circa 1845' or 'Dinner dress circa 1896' then we could go look up what types of fabrics and colors were in style during those 64 years that Victoria was on the throne and feel a sense of accomplishment when we colored a page. Think about it, 64 years ago from 2016 was 1952 and fashions and colors and fabrics have undergone a lot of changes during that time period.

Letitia Randall has completed two Victorian coloring books. One is about Victorian Houses, which shows victorian houses inside and outside; and this is the second book, called Victorian Era. This coloring book is about the style of modest beautiful clothing women, men, and children used to wear during that time period. These, like her other book, are all beautiful designs. If you enjoy the victorian style of clothing, you will have many happy, creative hours coloring these pages! I read somewhere there are vintage colors, you may want to do some research on this before you start your coloring. Disclaimer: I received this book for free for my honest and unbiased opinion.

I received a PDF version of this book at no charge with no requirement to post a review, but I like it so well I will anyway. A beautiful collection of NEW NOT PREVIOUSLY PUBLISHED pictures to color. It focuses on 1800 era women, men, and children in a variety of costumes. Designs are well drawn and obviously meant for coloring. You will find no excessively heavy dark lines or large black colored areas. Each page is a complete scene not just some object hanging in mid air. Pictures vary in complexity with none so detailed you need magnification to find areas to color. Pictures are a joy to color IF YOU ENJOY COLORING AND WANT SOMETHING NEW GET THIS BOOK.

I love Victorian fashion and this book depicts the loveliest styles! There is a good variety of scenes, some indoors, some outdoors, different seasons and such. I believe my favorite is of a young woman, standing outside in front of a fence, a bird sitting on the fence. She is wearing muffs and has a parasol. There are leafless trees in the background. Her expression is sad, almost haunting, as if she were thinking of something or someone far away. Very lovely! I am so very glad to have received this book for review! Thank you!
