Giorgio De Chirico And The Metaphysical City: Nietzsche, Modernism, Paris

Giorgio de Chirico and the Metaphysical City
Nietzsche, Modernism, Paris

Ara H. Merjian
Synopsis

Painted in Paris on the eve of World War One, the Metaphysical cityscapes of Giorgio de Chirico (1888-1978) redirected the course of modernist painting and the modern architectural imagination alike. Giorgio de Chirico and the Metaphysical City examines the two most salient dimensions of the artist’s early imagery: its representations of architectural space and its sustained engagement with the philosophy of Friedrich Nietzsche. Centering upon a single painting from 1914—the fatal year—deemed by the painter; each chapter examines why and how de Chirico’s self-declared Nietzschean method takes architecture as its pictorial means and metaphor. The first, full-length study in English to focus on the painter’s seminal work from pre-war Paris, the book places de Chirico’s literary images back in the context of the city’s avant-garde, particularly the circle of Guillaume Apollinaire. Merjian’s study sheds light on one of the most influential and least understood figures in 20th-century aesthetics, while also contributing to an understanding of Nietzsche’s paradoxical consequences for modernism.

Customer Reviews

This is an outstanding study of de Chirico’s Metaphysical art that emphasizes the importance of Nietzsche to the artist’s development. It is sumptuously illustrated--the permissions must have cost a bundle.
