Selling Contemporary Art: How To Navigate The Evolving Market

Synopsis

A sophisticated examination of today's contemporary art market from an art dealer's point of view, this new book focuses on recent changes in the quickly evolving market. With an emphasis on how the market responded to the global recession that began in 2008, gallery owner Edward Winkleman moves from an examination of the factors beyond the individual dealer's command to those that the dealer can control. Sections cover: The rise of the art fair, The rise of the mega gallery, New online competition, Models of post-brick-and-mortar art dealing, Art dealers as art fair organizers, Collaboration in a new era. Coverage is also given to the specifics of contracts contemporary art dealers may need, including an examination of a variety of contracts for representation, consignment, and new forms of contemporary art. Exhibiting a wide range of interviews with international experts including dealers, collectors, art-fair directors, journalists, and online art entrepreneurs, Selling Contemporary Art is a must-read for gallery owners, dealers, and artists affected by the rapid innovations in the art-dealing industry. This is a great read and very helpful to understand the current market and how it reflects everyone including the artist. Although it is not written for artists one can understand how the market reflects mid level decisions and how they do effect an artist's career. This book certainly defines what's happening out there in the big wild world of Contemporary Art in a range that is digestible.

This is a great book. Anyone anticipating a career in the fine arts needs take a look.
