This is a fun and a bit challenging coloring book. The patterns are so intertwined that I had to really concentrate on my coloring to be sure that I was following the pattern throughout the design. It can be really easy to lose your way and end up coloring something in a way that I had not planned. Not intricate with tiny spots but rather just something I had to pay close attention to. The designs include lots of fun elements repeated over and over again. I chose the bunny pattern first but there are lots of others that I will have fun coloring as well. This is what I experienced while coloring in this book and testing my coloring medium on the paper: 31 Techellation inspired repeating pattern

Designs Printed on one side of the page Paper is medium weight, white, lightly rough and perforated and is standard in Creative Haven Coloring Books Glue bound and pages can be removed at the perforations rather than cut out. Designs stop before the perforations Alcohol based markers bleed through the paper Water based markers spot through to the back of the page Gel pens and India ink pens leave shadows of color on the back of the page. India ink can spot through if you apply more than one layer of ink. Coloring pencils work well with this paper. I was able to use both wax and oil based pencils equally well. I could lay down good color, layer and blend well using a pencil style blender stick. Hard lead pencils leave dents on the back of the page. I recommend removing pages from the book or using a blotter page when coloring. I use card stock or several sheets of heavyweight paper.

The latest version of wild designs by John Wik, who draws synchronistic designs that are lots of fun for me to color. In this book there is a collection of images involving insects, fish, flowers, ladybugs, dragonflies, sharks, rabbits and lots more. The features of these have to be creatively colored in by the colorists to bring them out of hiding from the background, that is fun for my coloring grandkids. Some of the particulars of this coloring book:~ great quality book by Dover's Creative Haven publications~ 31 designs~ 8.5" x 11" pages~ each design has a border frame~ pages are perforated for easy tear out~ each design has a dedicated page~ blank on the back~ good quality paper, takes to coloring pencils the best~ the paper is absorbent, so any wet medium such as alcohol and gel markers will likely bleed through~ excellent printing resolution I personally and typically use Copic markers along with colored pencils for shading. Coloring these types of designs is a meditative and enjoyable creative process for me.

Another winner in my eyes! This book has 31 designs printed on one side of page (back side blank). Perforated for easy removal. Paper is thicker than normal paper, white and semi smooth. The designs are made up of animals in repetitive patterns, I have included some pictures to give you an idea of what's inside. The designs vary from easy to moderate, I don't see any that are unusually difficult so should appeal to a large group of colorists. Can't wait to get started!
