When I opened my package and saw how small this "notebook" was I laughed. It's not much bigger than my hand and the inside is blank pages, no lines to write on. And I thought it would be a spiral notebook for some reason. Still a good quality picture of Starry Night.

I bought this thinking it would be a full-sized notebook and I was getting a great deal and honestly was trying to hit my $25 mark for free shipping. It does mention the dimensions of the notebook so I guess it is my own fault for not looking hard enough. It also doesn't have lines on the pages but now I just stuck it in my purse for when I need to jot down random things, so that is useful I suppose.

I purchased this journal just to get free shipping with another item and for a 1.50 free ship it's a great idea for giveaways or gifts for those who enjoy van gogh as I do. Recommend for those who like to write notes down will fit in back pocket for guys and in any purse for women.

These Decorative notebooks can fit in your purse so conveniently. Give these as a gift, use as a diary, Make a grocery list. My daughter uses hers to schedule customers for her husbands business. Very nice. I love these and got 5 for myself and 5 for my daughter!

This is my favorite of all the small notebooks in the series... lined pages, perfect for taking notes for a special class, or for keeping track of books read, or museums visited, or art discovered, or trips taken, or poems to be copied and carried wherever you go, or diary, or journal, or... you get the idea!

I don't know how many times I needed to write something down and had no paper. I usually end up jotting a note on the back of a receipt and then I can't find the receipt. This is the perfect purse size for me. It is on the small size but I knew that when I bought it. It fits in my purse and the cover is strong enough that it shouldn't bend while being stored with the rest of my stuff. Of course, I love Van Gogh and the song 'Starry, Starry Night', so this is my favorite little notepad.

These are cute books. They are small, can fit into the palm of your hand, and make great notepads for a purse or backpack. They are not lined, and this may throw some people off. Overall, a good purchase for around a buck.

I have loved art since my 10th grade English teacher, Mrs. Jordan, made our class learn every single piece of art work including details about it from our very thick English Literature textbook. I admit these notebooks were an impulse buy. I saw them and had to have them!! They are practical and beautiful! The notebooks are from Dover and are slightly larger than sized. I also love that they are made in the US. Starry Night and Irises is blank pages with no lines. The Degas and Monet notebooks have lined pages. They have strong spines and look like they will hold up well in my purse. I would recommend these to others. I am considering buying these for stocking stuffers for our homeschooled children. I want to pass down that love of art to them. I am very, very pleased with my purchase.
